The Lincoln Museum Store

One of the goals of Lincoln Lore is to bring something of The Lincoln Museum to our many readers who live too far from Fort Wayne to visit the Museum as often as they might like. Recent articles on the Lincoln Highway, the gowns of the First Ladies, and historians' ratings of the Presidents have reflected then-current temporary exhibits at the Museum. Stories and cover illustrations have displayed some of the Museum's more dramatic new acquisitions, including the inkwell used by Lincoln to sign the Final Emancipation Proclamation on January 1, 1863, and a printed copy of the document itself, signed by Lincoln, William Seward and John Nicolay.

In this issue, we present another aspect of the Lincoln Museum experience, a visit to the Museum Store, in the form of a catalog showing some of the items available for purchase, either in person or by mail. From the first stages of the design of the Museum's permanent exhibit, "Abraham Lincoln and the American Experiment," the Museum Store was viewed as an integral part of the plan. The Store serves as an educational extension of the exhibit, offering visitors the chance to remember and expand upon their day at the Museum with books, artifact and document reproductions, toys and games, clothing, jewelry, keepsakes, and other items.

Since opening our present facility in 1995, we have received many requests for a mail order catalog of Museum Store items. Whether it be a hard-to-find Lincoln title that you've been seeking, or a refrigerator magnet that through long familiarity will teach your two-year-old to recognize the face of "Mr. Lincoln" (it happened in our house), I trust that you will find something of value here in the Museum Store — GJP.

Coming up at The Lincoln Museum...some highlights from the temporary exhibit schedule:

Statuary

Trial Lawyer Bronze

By artist John McClarey. McClarey captures the spirit of lawyer Lincoln in this detailed piece cast of bonded-bronze on a wood base.

Dimensions: 7 x 9 1/2"

*$250.00** (31425)

Volk Life Mask and Hands

In 1860, Chicago artist Leonard Volk made a cast of Lincoln's face and hands, an experience Lincoln found "anything but agreeable." To add definition to the right hand, puffy and swollen from repeated handshaking, the artist had Lincoln grasp a piece of a broom handle. This reproduction is cast of plaster and finished in golden bronze.

*Mask: $90.00** (30598)

*Hands: $125.00** (31320)

Abraham Lincoln Statuary

The large piece on the left is cast of plaster and finished in green bronze patina. The medium size statue on the right is also cast of plaster with a golden bronze finish. The medium bust's finish matches that of the life mask and hands.

Large (dimensions: 11 x 17")
*$135.00** (30317)

Medium (dimensions: 8 x 12")

Building a Lincoln Library

As a Lincoln enthusiast, you can expect that sooner or later you will be asked, "What should I read if I want to learn about Abraham Lincoln?" It's not an easy question; The Lincoln Museum's research library contains more than 9,000 Lincoln-related titles from which to choose.

The list below is a practical guide to building a personal twenty-five volume Lincoln library. These are not necessarily the best twenty-five Lincoln books — rare books, multi-volume reference sets, and works that are long out of print are not included — but they are all worthwhile in various ways, and they are all in stock and available today from The Lincoln Museum Store.

1. The Lincoln Encyclopedia (1982) by Mark E. Neely, Jr. Indispensable reference.
$19.95 soft cover (30557)
2. Lincoln (1995) by David Herbert Donald.* The best one-volume biography.
